MISS TOMBLER SUGGESTS NEW CLUB ACTIVITIES

Adams county home economics clubs have been advised in letters sent by Miss Mildred E. Tomblor, county representative, to the 20 local leaders of the home "ec" clubs to make plans now for club members to attend the annual state Farm Show in Harrisburg as one of their winter activities.

The Harrisburg trip was suggested as one of the educational features for a successful program during the winter months. Miss Tomblor also suggested other tours, travel meetings, dramatic presentations, discussions on courtesy and health meetings as valuable educational features.

"Many of the 4-H clubs want to carry on winter meetings," Miss Tomblor said. "This is an excellent way to keep the groups together and organized ready to start next spring."

Other Activities

She pointed out that for travel meetings, clubs could have parents or others give talks on vacation trips. "Many people," she said, "take movies or slides and would be glad to show them to clubs."

HAROLD Z. ZINN IS FOUND DEAD IN OLD QUARRY

Harold Zeigler "Sonny" Zinn, former hospital corpsman in the U. S. Navy during World War II, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Zinn, Baltimore street, was found dead about 7 o'clock this morning in the old Bushman quarry near Williams avenue, about one-quarter mile south of Culp's hill.

The 29-year-old local youth was lying on his back, when found, with a bullet wound in his left chest, near the heart. The bullet had also torn a path through the inside of his left arm about midway between the elbow and shoulder.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, and Private James Walsh of the local State Police, who investigated, said death was accidental. They said death occurred about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. The gun, a German Luger automatic pistol, was lying under the body.

Found By Classmate

The former sailor, who graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1944, was found by a classmate, Edward Raffensperger, South Stratton street, and the latter's father, George Raffensperger, who had started a search for the youth when notified by the young man's father that "Sonny" had not returned after leaving for a hike Friday afternoon.

The two Raffenspergers started their search in the Culp's hill area about 6:30 o'clock this morning, calling for the youth as they walked along. They heard Zinn's dog "Jim" barking in answer to their calls and went to the quarry, where they found the body.

Zinn is believed to have been preparing to shoot mark in the quarry, a practice that police say other persons have followed there from time to time. A number of old 22 caliber brass shells were found in the quarry in addition to one shell of German Luger manufacture.

Powder Burns On Body

Sometime after arriving at the quarry the local man tied his dog to a small tree and removed his jacket, which was placed near where the dog was tied.

When found the body was about 10 feet from the dog. The right shoe was about 15 inches from the foot. About 12 feet south of the body was a glass jar which Zinn may have set up as a target for pistol shooting, police said today.

Powder burns were around the hole where the bullet entered the body, and on the arm.

The survivors are the parents; two brothers, Harman, Hanover, and Merville, Chambersburg; 3 sisters Mrs. Fred Mumma, New Cumberland; Mrs. James E. Schwenk, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Robert Hicks, of Harrisburg. His paternal grandmother, Mrs. Merville E. Zinn, Baltimore street, also survives.

Zinn was a junior at Gettysburg college where he was also a member of the ATO fraternity. He was a ticket taker in a local theatre.

He was a member of St. James Lutheran church and the American Legion post here.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Bender's funeral home, Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, his pastor, officiating. Burial in Evergreen cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Monday evening after 7 o'clock.

FLOW OF VETS TO COLLEGE IS NEARING CREST

Veterans still dominate the population of the Gettysburg college student body, but an analysis of the current enrollment by the registrar, Charles R. Wolfe, indicates that the wave of veterans entering college here is reaching its crest.

A total of 136 non-veterans entered Gettysburg college during the September registration period, as compared with 114 veterans who came here for the first time. This would indicate that the veteran enrollment is on the decline, but Registrar Wolfe explains that a true picture of the enrollment trend must take into consideration the fact that 40 veterans who had previously attended college here and who have not been tabulated with the new veteran students re-entered during September.

Have 710 Veterans

Seventy other former GI's were admitted during the summer session and were accepted for the 1947-48 regular academic year. These 70 have also not been tabulated with the new GI students. Only a few non-veterans entered school for the summer session.

Registrar Wolfe says that veteran enrollment, on the basis of all these figures, is not declining, but has nearly reached its peak. "Veterans

GOVERNMENT IN DENMARK IS DEFEATED

Copenhagen, Oct. 4 (AP)—Premier Knud Kristensen's minority government fell today.

The Danish parliament's lower chamber cast an 80 to 66 vote of no confidence on a resolution blaming Kristensen for his attitude on the South Schleswig question as voiced in speeches outside parliament.

Kristensen said he would ask King Frederick IX to call new elections and the king dissolved the lower chamber in preparation for such balloting.

The general expectation was that the elections would be called for October 30. Under Danish law, Kristensen's middle-of-the-road government will remain in power on a trusteeship basis until the election results are announced, when it will submit a formal resignation.

Liberal Premier

Resolutions of no confidence had been offered by the Social Democrats, with 48 seats in the lower house; the Communists, with 18; and the Radical Left party, with 11; representing together a majority in the 194 seat house. The Radical Left's resolution was the one voted on.

Kristensen—appointed premier November 7, 1945, as successor to Social Democrat Vilhelm Buhl—is the first premier to have served under King Frederik, who succeeded to the throne last April 20 on the death of his father, Christian X. Kristensen is a liberal.

Kristensen's Liberal party won 38 seats in the 1945 election and formed a minority government, because no single party had a majority and no coalitions were forthcoming.

South Schleswig, which has been a controversial issue for some time, is in Germany just south of the Danish border.

Nab 6 Students On 'Paint' Raid At Westminster

Westminster, Md., Oct. 4 (AP)—Six student members of a Gettysburg college raiding party were held in jail today after police reported they splashed paint on several Western Maryland college buildings.

Football teams of the two colleges play this afternoon with the Pennsylvania college as host.

Patrolman LeRoy Gay who collared the sextet said the invading party numbered about 35. He said the six are being held on charges of "malicious destruction of property."

He reported the Gettysburg students plastered red, green and aluminum paint on the alumni building, dining hall and seminary.

The Gettysburg "paint party" was in retaliation for a trip by Western Maryland students two nights ago. They went to Gettysburg and painted "W. M. beat G-B" in red letters on the head announcing booth on the football field.

paign and National Safety and Fire Prevention weeks.

Parties are not neglected among Miss Tomblers' suggestions, for Halloween, New Year's, Valentine's Day, Christmas, etc. She suggested hay rides, taffy pulls, theater parties, winter hiking, skating or sleigh rides and oyster suppers. A Christmas carol group singing was also listed.

May Adopt Families Overseas

Attention of the club leaders was called to numerous other activities, such as making toys and scrapbooks for the children's wards in the hospitals, growing plants for shut-ins, earning money for the police drive and other campaigns and making toys for children's gifts at Christmas time.

Miss Tomblor suggested that clubs "adopt" a family overseas, and send parcels of clothing, concentrated foods and other necessities. She also said that the Church World Service Center, New Windsor, Md., is sponsoring a Christmas package project for children in war-stricken countries, and suggested contact with the Red Cross on this matter, and she also outlined the "C-A-R-E" package plans through which members of clubs may send food to Europe by depositing money. Ten-dollar packages include various foods, and $4 packages flour and lard. C-A-R-E, she said, is the clearing house for churches and other organizations who wish to utilize its services.

State Police Say

It is unlawful for any person to deface, damage, knock down, remove, obstruct, or interfere with any traffic sign, signal or marking which has been placed as provided by law.

HOPES TO END OVERLAPPING OF TAX LEVIES

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) held out hope today that taxpayers eventually will be relieved of some overlapping taxation by federal, state and local governments.

The Maryland senator told a reporter that congress members who attended a recent Chicago conference with 11 governors "unanimously agreed" that the federal government "should take the first step by giving up certain tax fields to the states."

"We now have federal, state and local taxes pyramiding in certain fields," O'Connor said. "If we can get an agreement among these various tax bodies to operate in certain areas it will mean eventual tax reduction."

30 Cents From Every Dollar

Governors representing the council of state governments and congressmen who are members of the Senate and House Tax Writing and Government Expenditures committees attended the Chicago meeting.

O'Connor said that some congress members believe the federal government should step out of four tax areas where states and cities also operate. He listed these as levies on gasoline, certain amusements, local telephone calls and intrastate utilities.

The senator said that the annual tax burden is about $60,000,000,000 which "takes about 30 cents or more out of every dollar of income even with a favorable $180,000,000,000 income." This represents tax collections by federal, state, county and city governments.

See Big Job

He said so-called amusement taxes net about $450,000,000 a year at all levels and these "could best be collected and managed at the state and local levels."

O'Connor said the three other taxes from which the federal government might withdraw produce about $204,000,000 a year. He added: "Most tax authorities say that federal taxes should be limited to those areas in which a uniform national tax is required. This attempt to separate the tax areas for various levels of government will take a long time but it would be well worth the effort."

ASK BREWERS TO CUT GRAIN USE TO AID EUROPE

By STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—Armed with a pledge from more than half of the whisky industry to cut its grain consumption 50 per cent, President Truman's Citizens' Food Committee today tackled the nation's brewers for a similar concession to western Europe's distress.

The Distilled Spirits Institute, after a long session with Committee Chairman Charles Luckman and his aides, voluntarily agreed last night to stop using wheat and cut the use of corn, barley and rye by 50 per cent. Luckman said the institute represents 60 per cent of the industry.

He predicted the remaining 40 per cent would follow suit, while an institute spokesman said enough whisky is now on hand to maintain a "steady flow to the market" of good whisky despite curtailed operations.

Distillers Cooperate

But Publisher Industries, Inc., said the cut "doesn't do enough" and offered to do more. The big beverage and commercial alcohol firm told Luckman its companies "stand ready to join immediately in discontinuing all use of grain of any kind in the manufacture of distilled spirits" whenever the government requests.

The agreement with the distillers, announced by Luckman at the White House, was the committee's first major move in support of Mr. Truman's voluntary "self-rationing" plan designed to save 100,000,000 bushels of grain to help feed western Europe. This is the margin of difference between this area's estimated need—570,000,000 bushels—and the supplies available.

Luckman estimated that the emergency will last anywhere from four to 10 months.

Adoption of the plan by all distillers would mean "a saving of 2-500,000 bushels of grain a month," Luckman said. This would be mostly corn. An institute spokesman said some wheat is used to flavor rye whisky, but a Publisher official said distillers "do not use any wheat," except in emergencies.

LIBRARY BOARD

The report was given by C. A. Cluck. The monthly report of the librarian, Miss Kathryn Oller, showed that book loans at the library now have gone over the 70,000 mark. Miss Oller pointed out an unusual feature of her report for the month of September—book loans from the adult book stations through the county exceeded those at the main library for the first time since the library was founded. The main library loaned 1,000 volumes and the adult stations 1,299. Miss Oller said the bookmobile, now at Altoona having steel shelving installed, is expected to be returned to service here in about two weeks.

Twelve members of the board attended the session. The next meeting will be November 7.

TELLS OF TRIP

had quite a layout. It must have been six times larger than the one I visited at Marburg and was six times more interesting. They had regular tours through the castle and it was worth many times the fee of five cents.

Much In Shambles

A greater part of the castle was destroyed by lightning and after being captured three times, twice by the Swedes in the 30 Years War and once by the French, it remains pretty much in shambles. Despite these raids there was much to be seen and I enjoyed the two hours we spent in the place.

"To be sure it is located on a steep hill and had a 15-foot moat around it at one time. Our entrance was under a portcullis, the like of which I would not like to meet when the thing is in operation. The reception hall, hall of mirrors, and some of the quarters were destroyed but the chapel, ladies' quarters, banquet hall, wine cellar, torture chambers and a million secret passages were still intact and as one went through one couldn't help but live the scenes that must have prevailed there several hundred years ago.

"Perhaps the most interesting place was the wine cellar with two huge casks or vats, one of which held 39,000 gallons and was pumped by man power from deep in the wine cellar to the banquet hall. It was so large that it took 18 years to empty it. This happened on three different occasions.

Good Gardeners

"The ladies' chambers were of marble and had some unique equipment in them such as porcelain stoves on which they sat to keep warm and closets that would house a small family.

"Throughout the castle were hand-carved solid oak doors that must have taken ages to complete. The chapel was all handpainted and is beyond my meager talents to describe properly.

"Three large hotels are located in the town and of course the Army has taken over these for billets and clubs. We chose the Victoria and it was quite a treat to eat in true European style. A porterhouse steak with all the trimmings from soup to nuts, costs us $1.25 and couldn't be duplicated in the states for less than $3.50. The dining room was 20 feet wide and about 300 feet long and ran along a beautiful garden with fountains playing in the center with dozens of varieties of flowers as a background. The lawn was perfect and I would bet my pay that you couldn't find a piece of dead grass in the huge plot. These Krauts are the last word in gardeners and in every garden, hard pressed as they are for food, you will always find flowers growing."

WOMAN KILLED ON TURNPIKE

Greensburg, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—A head-on collision of two automobiles killed Mrs. Lauretta Millsop, 49, wife of Thomas E. Millsop, president of Weirton Steel Co. and mayor of Weirton, W. Va., and injured six other persons last night near here on the Pennsylvania turnpike.

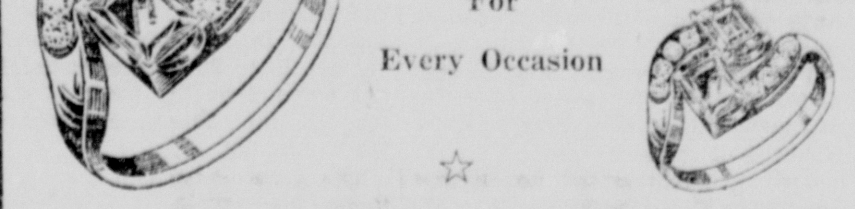

State police said a rear tire blew out on a car driven by Mrs. Millsop, causing it to jump the six-inch-high center line of the superhighway and careen into the opposite traffic lane.

The injured, all brought to Westmoreland hospital here, included the driver of the other car, Gilbert Olmhausen, 57, Duquesne Brewing Co. executive of Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburg, who suffered a broken right ankle and cuts on the face and knee, and his wife, who suffered a compound fracture of the right leg, a broken left leg and severe cuts and bruises.

Millsop, summoned from his home in Weirton, returned to West Virginia with the granddaughter, Leslie Joan, who had suffered cuts and bruises and was released from the hospital in care of a physician who accompanied Millsop.

Hanover Whips Maroons 44-0 Here Friday Night Before Record Attendance Of 4,000

A set of fleet, swivel-tipped backs paced Hanover high school's unbeaten football team to a one-sided 44-0 victory over the fighting but outclassed Gettysburg high Maroons in a Southern Penn conference game here Friday night before the largest crowd ever to witness a grid contest on the local field.

Attendance for the game was estimated at 4,000, which exceeded by about 700 the previous local attendance record set here several years ago when Hanover was also the visiting team.

The speed of the Nighthawk backs was largely responsible for the local's defeat, but efficient blocking and tackling by the entire Hanover aggregation stood out as a potent factor. Time and again on wide sweeps around the ends and downfield, Hanover ball carriers were given fine protection by a covey of smooth performing blockers.

Despite the lopsidedness of the score the Maroons were an improvement over previous performances. Fumbles were fewer and at least twice the Maroons showed offensive power in mild scoring threats.

Maroons Start Well
First of Gettysburg "threats" took place immediately after the opening kickoff. Rightmire kicked off and Dunkinson returned to the Maroons' 37. Hottle and Bowling pounded out a first down on the 49 on four line smashes. Knox picked up five yards through the center and Hottle ripped through the line for a first down on the visitors' 36. Here the Maroon attack broke down. Hanover taking over on the 40 and promptly inaugurating its first touchdown drive.

Jack Moore and Wib Gobrecht sparked the drive that produced three straight first downs to reach the Gettysburg 8. Moore picked up five yards through the left side of the line and then Rightmire rammed across for the score. Teal placekicked the point.

The Reesemans were soon off to their second score, taking the ball on a punt on their own 47 late in the first period from where Moore raced around end for a first down on the Maroons' 38 to open the second period. Moore lost a yard on two plays but then Rightmire faded back to midfield to whip a long pass to Reese who pulled in the toss on the 15 and scampered the remaining distance for a score. Teal's placement boot was blocked by the Gettysburg forward wall.

Gettysburg's most promising bit of play came shortly afterwards. Bowling recovering a Hanover fumble following a punt on the Nighthawks' 49 to set the stage for the locals' only real scoring threat of the game.

Grid Threat Falters
Smashing through the Hanover line for substantial gains, Hottle, Bowling, Westerdaal, Dunkinson and Knox reeled off three straight first downs to the visitors' 15. Here the Gettysburg attack sputtered and died out as Hanover took the ball on downs on the 14.

Hanover immediately manufactured its third touchdown in the waning minutes of the half. Moore sped around end for a first down on the 28. Successive passes, Moore to Gobrecht, put the ball on 33. Moore picked up a first down on the 11 and then Moore swept around right end for the score. The try for point failed as the half ended.

The Nighthawks scored quickly after receiving the second half kickoff, a 15-yard penalty moving the ball to the Gettysburg 38. Moore and Gobrecht reeled off a pair of first downs to the 7 and on two tries Rightmire went over. Teal's replacement was wide and low.

Caught From Behind
Reese recovered a Maroon fumble on Hanover's 42 midway in the third quarter and the Hanover lads were off to another tally. Teal raced 56 yards after breaking into the clear but was nabbed on the 5 from the rear by Bowling who chased him the entire way with several other Maroons. However, two plays later Teal went over from the 2. Moore's kick for the point was wide.

The Maroons noticeably were collapsing in the final stages of the game. A Gettysburg fumble was recovered by Rightmire on the Maroons' 38 late in the third period to set up Hanover's sixth score. After gaining a first down on the 26, Moore passed to Gruver for the point. Moore's placement bounced off the backs of a Hanover player and soared over the uprights to make the count 37-0.

The final Hanover touchdown came on another pass, Gobrecht to Good, culminating a 45 yard drive. Brady's kick for the point was wild. Hanover rolled up 16 first downs to seven for Gettysburg. The Maroons completed two of 11 passes, one being intercepted. Hanover made good on four of 12 aerials with one being stolen.

Goal Posts Go Down
Enthusiastic Hanover fans ripped down the goal posts at both ends of the field shortly after the contest ended which led to a few mild cases of fistfuffs over the field.

Next Friday the Maroons journey to Waynesboro for another conference game.

LAVAGETTO WAS SURPRISED BY ORDER TO BAT

By JOE REICHLER
Brooklyn, October 4 (AP)—Cookie Lavagetto, the hero of the hour was the most surprised guy on the Brooklyn bench when he was ordered to pinch hit for Ed Stanky with two out and two on in the ninth.

"I was sitting on the end of the bench biting my nails when I heard Eurt Shotton call out, 'Lavagetto,'" Cookie related. "I assumed that he intended me to run for Pete Reiser, who had just been walked and started in the direction of first base. 'Hey,' he yelled, 'where you going? I want you to swing for Stanky.' 'So I did.'"

Bucky Harris today was being second guessed even more than Shotton was when the Brooklyn pilot refused to yank Ralph Branca in the fateful fifth inning of the opener. The press box masterminds insisted that Harris never should have ordered Pete Reiser to be given an intentional pass with a 3-1 count on him.

"Bevens walks nine guys and he gets by," Harris moaned. "I walk one and lose the game."

Incidentally that hectic ninth could very well be called "an Italian fiesta." It was Car Furillo who started the fireworks with a base on balls, the ninth issued by Bevens. Then Al Gionfriddo ran for him and proceeded to steal second to set up the stage for the next walk to Reiser. That was termed by many as the turning point of the game.

Finally, it was Lavagetto who delivered that payoff two-run, two-out two-bagger. Larry Berra and Phil Rizzuto, the Yankee Italian, also got into the act, albeit involuntarily, when the catcher threw high to second enabling Gionfriddo to slide under the tag.

Berra, by the way, is in the running to adorn the goat's horns in the series, should the Dodgers upset the Yankees. In addition to his .077 batting average, the squat receiver has been the chief victim of Brooklyn's running game. Five stolen bases have been charged against him in six attempts. The Brook's two other stolen bases were against Sherman Lollar. Berra also has made two wild throws trying to nip runners at first base and has misjudged an easy pop in front of the plate.

Rumors are floating around as thick as the cuts of steak being served in the hotel lobby here. Some are:

(A) That Boudreau will go to St. Louis in a trade for Shortstop Vern Stephens and a couple of pitchers.

(B) That Muddy Ruel, manager of the Browns, will go to the Indians as a coach.

(C) That Al Lopez has been holding off a direct reply to an offer to manage Kansas City of the American association until the Cleveland situation is settled. It has been said that Lopez, who asked for and received his unconditional release from the Indians last week, is a candidate for the managerial job if Boudreau is traded.

(D) That Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League and former Chicago White Sox leader, is all set to replace Boudreau, if and when.

(E) That Boudreau, who originally had insisted upon a three-year managerial contract, was willing to

DODGERS WIN DRAMATIC 9TH INNING VICTORY

By JACK HAND

Brooklyn, Oct. 4 (AP)—Cookie Lavagetto, a weather beaten "has been" left over from the 1941 Dodgers, is the hero and Yankee Bill Bevens is the heart-sick victim of the most dramatic moment in the history of 44 World Series.

Long after it has been forgotten that Cookie's pinch double boosted the Brooks into today's fifth game all even with the favored New York Yankees, folks will gather around the hot stove leagues to retell how Bevens missed becoming the first no-hit Series pitcher by the margin of two strikes.

Two men were out and New York clung to a wobbly 2-1 lead yesterday. Three times Bevens had been saved by leaping catches against the fences and scoreboard by Johnny Lindell, Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich.

Bevens Set Record
A ninth-inning rally that would have solidified Bevens' slender margin had been quieted by Hugh Casey, the bulging saloon owner, who threw just one ball to Henrich for a double play that snuffed out the threat.

It was the Dodgers' last chance against Bevens who already had surpassed the best previous no-hit mark in a Series game when he finished the eighth. Red Ruffing had muffed the Cardinals' bats for 7 2/3 innings in 1942 but Big Bill had gone him one inning better.

Bruce Edwards, leading off the ninth, backed Lindell against the left field boards for the first out. Then Bevens walked Carl Furillo. Spider Jorgensen hoisted a foul pop to George McQuinn and there was only one out to go.

Violated Basic Rule
Al Gionfriddo, the extra man who was "thrown into" the Kirby Higbe deal with Pittsburgh, was sent in to run for Furillo. And Pete Reiser, sidelined by a badly sprained ankle, went up to hit for Casey.

As Bevens threw a third ball to Reiser, Gionfriddo streaked for second, sliding in safely under Larry Berra's toss on a close play. Manager Bucky Harris ordered Reiser intentionally passed, leaving himself open for all the second runners by violating the cardinal diamond rule of "never put the winning run on base." It was Bevens' 10th walk, setting a new Series single game record.

Two on, two out with speedy Eddie Miksis running for the limping Reiser and Lavagetto arrived on the scene as a pinch hitter for Eddie Stanky. Here was the washed up vet who had to talk Branch Rickey into sending him a contract this season.

Night To Day
Swinging and missing once, Lavagetto sent the throbbing crowd into mass hysteria with a two-bagger over Henrich's head that spread heavenly joy in Flatbush and scattered gloom from the Yankee clubhouse all the way to Bevens' home town in far-off Salem, Oregon. Instead of a 2-1 Yankee win it was a 3-2 Dodger triumph. Black had become white and night had turned into day.

A large share of the crowd of 33,443 refused to go home after it was over. They milled about the field, searching for some scrap of Dodger left-over they could take home as a souvenir.

No matter what happens from now on it's bound to be an anticlimax. Brooklyn once more is fresh out of pitchers but that hasn't stopped them from winning the last two games after blowing the first pair.

Shea And Lombardi
The way things have been going it matters little whom the Dodgers start. It usually ends up with Casey who commented after yesterday's second successive win, "maybe I'll have to make it four straight."

Vic Lombardi, about the only staff members who didn't pitch yesterday or the day before, is the probable starter in the fifth game, the last at Ebbets Field. Little Vic, the plucky southpaw, was belted out in the fifth inning of Wednesday's 10-3 rout.

Harris has named Frank (Spec) Shea, the freshman from Naugatuck, Conn., who allowed one run in five innings and received credit for the opening day win with Joe Page's help after he was lifted for a pinch hitter.

After today's game, the scene shifts back to the Yankee Stadium for a sixth game Sunday and a seventh, if necessary, Monday.

What a difference a day makes. Before yesterday's game they were saying that this was "the worst World Series in history." The same cynics today were reiterating to all who would listen that yesterday's game was the "greatest" they had ever seen.

New York, Oct. 4 (AP)—We've been winning them like that all season. Now I wouldn't be much surprised if we'd win four that way."

... the speaker was Branch Rickey.

Jr., after the Dodgers staggered through to their first World Series triumph Thursday and he referred, of course, to the way the Bums clung desperately but successfully to their one-run lead ... even in his wildest dreams Branch couldn't have foreseen yesterday's finish—the end of a game that was won with a single pitch and a single hit ... not many of the 33,000 spectators who saw Hugh Casey snuff out a Yankee rally the first time he threw the ball and Cookie Lavagetto drive in the winning runs with the first hit off Bill Bevens would be surprised at anything that may happen from now on.

POETIC JUSTICE

Anyway, Casey got even ... up to yesterday, the most exciting finish of a world series game was in that celebrated 1941 contest when Casey threw what would have been the winning strike and the ball got away from Mickey Owen ... the Yanks went on to win then, and Big Hughie was the victim ... yesterday he came in with the bases full and the Yanks starting what looked like a scoring spree. He pitched once, fielded Tommy Henrich's topped drive and threw home to start a double play ... no wonder organizer Gladys Gooding serenaded departing fans with "Casey waltzed with the strawberry blonde."

FLATBUSH FROLIC

Naturally, a fan swiped Lavagetto's cap while the Dodgers were mobbing him but a couple of ushers pursued the culprit and got it back ... Bevens still owes a few votes of thanks to his outfielders for his 8 2/3 innings of hitless ball. Johnny Lindell dashed over beyond the foul line in the second to make a tumbling catch of Jackie Robinson's drive in the third and he backed up against the wall to snatch Bruce Edwards' smash in the ninth. Joe DiMaggio, who was caught trying to score from first on Edwards' heave into right field in the third, made up for that with a running one-hand catch of Gene Hermanski's fly in the fourth. And Tommy Henrich averted a hit in the eighth by leaping in front of the scoreboard for a one-hand stab of another Herman-ski drive ... the autograph seekers mobbed Commissioner Happy Chandler after the game and he signed everything. Probably, like everyone else, he was feeling too weak to run.

PRESSROOM PICKUPS

Jimmy Dykes, who probably is the highest salaried minor league manager, is reported flying east for a conference with Cleveland's Bill Veck ... popular rumor has the Yank's Frank Crosetti joining the old boss, Joe McCarthy, as a Red Sox coach ... some southern scribes here for the series are certain Notre Dame will receive and accept the Sugar Bowl bid if the Irish have a good season ... Brooklyn boss Branch Rickey maintains his Dodgers could set a record for stealing bases against Bill Bevens—and Yogi Berra wouldn't handicap them much ... hard luck guy of the series is the operator of the elevator going to the Ebbets field press box. He flew to St. Louis to see that (important) late season series, but when the big doings took place in his home park yesterday, he was standing in his cage and couldn't see a thing.

DEMARET HOLDS LEAD AT READING

Reading, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—Par golf, eluding most of the experts in the $10,000 Reading Open Tournament, still was the target for today as the final event of golf's summer circuit swung into the third round.

Jimmy Demaret, somewhat less exuberant than usual after his two-over par round of 73 yesterday, still led the pack with 138 strokes.

Two strokes behind, and hitting hard, were the second-round star, handsome Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich., and consistent Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, amateur. A shot further back was a trio of touring experts, Ed Oliver, Wilmington, Del.; Bobby Locke, Johannesburg, South Africa, and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, York, Pa. Only these six, from an original starting field of 161, owned sub-par totals.

Altogether, some 260 swings around the 6,397 yard Berkshire Country club course in the first two days yielded just 14 subpar scores. Demaret's opening 65, a course record, stood at the head of the list, with Harbert's 67 in the second round—four front-nine birdies and 14 pars—the next best effort.

The only others to better 71 before the field was cut again to 60 for the final rounds today and Sunday were Andy Gibson, Baltimore, 69; and Elsworth Vines, Los Angeles, and Morrie Gravatt, Tulsa, Okla., each with 70's.

26 GRID TILTS IN STATE TODAY

Philadelphia, Oct. 4 (AP)—There may be a World Series going on in Brooklyn but on no fewer than 28 fronts Pennsylvanians will have their eyes on king football over the week-end—26 games being scheduled for state colleges today and tomorrow.

Three games were played last night with the intersectional clash between Villanova and Miami University headlining the program. Villanova rallied for third-period touchdown and conversion to stand off the invading Floridians 7-7 before a crowd of 25,500 at Shibe Park here.

The Wildcats' score came on an 86-yard march after Dan Brown recovered Miami's Bob Bowman's fumble on the Villanova 14-yard line with Al Schmid bulging over from one yard out. John Slano kicked the extra point to secure the stalemate. Long punt returns by Bob Polidor enabled the Mainliners to threaten twenty more in the final quarter.

At West Chester, Pa., freshman Halfback Joe Carlizzo raced 25 and 30 yards for touchdowns to lead West Chester State Teachers' college to a 33-0 victory over Pennsylvania Military college before a crowd of 5,000.

A second stalemate was played at Columbia between Millersville and Mansfield State Teachers' college. The final score was 0-0.

Today's schedule is highlighted by the Pennsylvania-Lafayette tilt at Franklin Field here and the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh scramble at Pittsburgh, Penn. heralded as the class of the Ivy league, is expected to trample the Leopards and the Irish are not anticipating any trouble from the Panthers.

Pitcher Jack Kramer, Cobbledick reported.

"I don't want to do anything to alienate our customers," the writer quoted Veck as saying. "They're the people who keep us in business. On the other hand, I have to be guided in the long run by my best judgment and the best advice I can get."

Boudreau, smooth-fielding Tribe shortstop and an Indian since 1939, had no comment from his home at Harvey, Ill. "Any announcement or comment must come from Veck," he said and added he "possibly may see Veck after the World Series."

STATE POLICE RAIDS
Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—State police patrolmen swooped down on 32 roadside business places in this area in a series of surprise raids late yesterday, seizing thousands of dollars worth of slot machines and other gaming devices. Lt. Herman J. Roush, of the Williamsport state police sub-station, said the proprietors of all establishments were charged with summary violations of the state's gaming act. The violation normally carries a fine of $14 and costs.

BELIEVE EIRE, ENGLAND WILL BURY HATCHET

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

From Dublin comes news that Eire finally has decided to remove the bitterly disliked statue of Queen Victoria which through many decades of hostile relationship between Southern Ireland and England has stood in front of Leinster House—now the Dail, or Parliament of an independent Eire.

The announced reason for the removal is that the room it occupies is needed for parking space—poor Victoria! But everybody knows there are few reminders of Britain that stir the fightin' Irishman to greater wrath than sight of the queen who ruled in days when southern Ireland liked to forget.

The famous queen-empress sits in grand state on a huge pedestal, with the billowing skirts of her day so spread out that she looks for all the world like an enormous broody hen. The statue is so big that it almost blocks a view of the building as one stands in front of it. I know, because when I was in Dublin in '45 I tried to take a snapshot of the Parliament House and couldn't find any place to avoid Victoria. However, I snapped a picture, and had it taken away from me by a minor government employee who said:

Dislike Inference

"We can't have a picture of the Parliament building taken with the queen in front of it."

Well, a government official sent my film back voluntarily with an apology which was quite unnecessary, since I understood the significance of the statue. To the small-time employee the statue was an emblem of the English rule which he had come to hate, and I mention the incident because my observation is that most of Eire feels as he does. My personal observation, by the way, goes back to the Easter week rebellion of Sinn Fein in 1916 when, as a reporter, your correspondent came close to writing his last story.

However, despite this barrier between Eire and England—a barrier which was responsible in no small degree for Eire's much criticized neutrality in the late world war—recent developments have set observers to speculating whether perhaps the two old enemies might be on the way to burying the hatchet. The past few weeks have seen events which might portend better times.

Friendly Gesture

First was the trip by Prime Minister DeValera to London to consult with Prime Minister Attlee on the economic situation as relating to the two countries. That was a highly important gesture for the proud and stern DeValera to make—he who a generation ago was condemned to death by the British as one of the leaders of the Easter week rebellion. I am acquainted with Mr. DeValera and take this to be a friendly move on his part.

Then the other day when Eire's name came up for membership in the United Nations, British minister of state, Hector McNeil, went out of his way to make a striking defense of Eire who was being opposed by Russia for the second time.

Trying for top speed too often is a driver's clowning glory.

Point to the Pump

Hesitations during acceleration, if closely analyzed, are likely to lead to the conclusion that the carburetor has developed some serious defect. Yet in many such cases the trouble is merely with the acceleration pump of the carburetor which needs to be replaced. When told this one owner countered with the argument that he was sure this part wasn't involved since he got the acceleration when merely going slowly from the low speed operation of the engine to higher speed. What he overlooked was the fact that the acceleration pump always provides a little extra shot of fuel to carry the carburetor over what would otherwise be a flat spot between the low and high speed jet operation.

Keep for Reference

If you ever have a leaky gas tank and find that the hole is so small you can't spot it just put a quart of oil into the gas. The oil will leave a wet spot at the point of leakage as contrasted with the gasoline which will evaporate and leave you undecided.

Put some penetrating oil on a rusted lamp base if you want to avoid breaking the bulb and cutting your fingers in your effort to remove it. The oil will dissolve the rust and make lamp removal easy, but give it time to do its work.

Kinks in the speedometer cable will, of course, produce noises and other oddities. So will a loose cable. But it is not too generally known that if the cable is slightly too long you will get a similar condition. In such cases the trick is merely to cut off the extra length which will not be likely to exceed one-eighth of an inch. This very slight extra length will also cause the speedometer head unit to flicker.

Warning on Undercoating

Ever since underbody undercoating came into the automobile picture last year motorists have been trying to find cheaper ways of protecting the chassis. This has resulted in some people trying everything from roofing cement to aluminum paint. They do not seem to realize that undercoating isn't merely a means of protecting the chassis exposed parts but an insulating process as well. The special materials used for a good job have to be sprayed on with special equipment. And there is emphasis on the fact that some parts must not be covered. These include the drive line, the muffler and tail pipe, the engine pan and, where cars have fluid drive, the clutch housing.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"I wish that more of my associates in the business would remember to check the backing plate of the brakes when looking for oddities in braking, or even when giving the brake routine inspection. These plates may look like a mere 'lid for the box' but actually they play a real role in braking."

"In checking a backing plate note if there is any looseness. Look at the shoe anchors. Check for trueness. Sometimes brakes put on a bad performance because of scored ledges of the backing plates."

One of the little routine inspections which all motorists should make from time to time is to check for possible leakage of brake fluid at the individual wheels. It is not enough to look for signs of leakage around the wheel cylinders; look under the rubber boots at the cylinder ends where leakage may just be starting. Usually such leakage is due to stuck wheel cylinder pistons or to wear on the cylinders from dirt in the fluid. Incidentally, the quickest way to bring on stickage of these little pistons is to be rough with the brakes at low speeds. Too much fluid pressure may easily jam the pistons.

We're now in the season for what has been known for years as wet-leaf skidding. Many cars still are equipped with tires with all synthetic rubber tread, and that means less traction. The great danger in wet leaves is that they never look dangerous. Usually they are found on city streets with a fairly crowned surface.

Incidentally, watch this on curves, bearing in mind that the tendency to upset doesn't increase in direct proportion to speed. At 30 miles an hour, for instance, this centrifugal force is double that at 20—nine times greater at 60 miles per hour!

Useful in Traffic

If your car is one with a higher speed second gear don't try to save time and shifting by starting in that gear. Start in low and then switch to second, keeping in the latter instead of going through to high. You can maneuver more skillfully in a fast second, and with greater control. The car will accelerate faster than in high, and deceleration will also be improved.

Trailing another car through a city be sure to note if the driver hand signals for every change in direction, or occasionally, or not at all. If signalling is spasmodic it is worse than useless, for you may find yourself badly trapped.

Saves Sidewall Scuff

I have found a fairly simple way to avoid scuffing up the tire sidewalls when parking and when I cannot see the right hand curb too well. In backing up I purposely cut the front wheels so that the right rear tire will touch the curb on an angle. It touches with its tread and not the sidewall. Then I cut the front wheels toward the curb and move ahead. This invariably brings the car to within the right distance from the curb.

Now that white sidewall tires are coming back into the picture you'll find that will save a lot of cleaning.

Seeing the Difference

Quite aside from the reduced vibration these flexibly mounted engines of today offer another advantage in the greater ease of checking them for ignition and carburetion conditions. It used to be that when we employed the screwdriver method of shorting out spark plugs a good car was required in order to tell whether a multi-cylinder engine really slowed down. Today we have merely to observe the sudden increase in motor shake when a good plug shorts out. It is the same with checking for idling. The moment the idling speed gets too low the motor starts to jiggle. What we used to do by ear, and often with a lean or two on our imagination, we now do by sight. It is much more reliable.

Having Their Problems

Q. Should a cylinder head gasket be soaked in water before installation?—J. R. B.

A. No. The important point is to see that head, block and gasket are as clean as possible. Any loose particles of dirt or carbon are certain to cause trouble.

Q. What can be done to keep a generator from overheating? The charging rate has been cut down and there is no trace of high resistance in the charging circuit.

—Wm. K. L.

A. You may have a damaged armature or field coil. Grounded brushes would also cause such overheating.

Q. What would cause excessive sludge in the crankcase. Every time I drain off the oil there is the usual mess of dirty looking sludge, even though I drain every 500 miles and am careful to use good quality oil. There is no reason for the engine to be in such dirty condition. The car is never operated over dirt roads, the air cleaner is kept in shape and the total mileage is slightly under 25,000.—H. P. C.

A. Look for a water leak here. The cylinder head gasket may be letting some water get into the crankcase. Water and oil make sludge rapidly. Q. In checking the motor with a vacuum gauge I notice that the needle flickers rapidly when the engine speed is increased. What does this indicate?—H. H. McN.

A. This is the usual sign of weak valve springs or worn valve guides. Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, Hartford, Connecticut, and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

Author Of Quantum Theory Dies In Berlin

Berlin, Oct. 4 (AP)—Dr. Max Planck, 89-year-old German physicist and Nobel prize winner, died last night, the Goettingen University clinic announced today.

Dr. Planck, who originated the Quantum theory in 1900 after researches into the atomic structure of radiation, ranked with Albert Einstein as one of the world's foremost scientists. He won the Nobel Prize in 1918 and was an honored member of learned societies on both sides of the Atlantic.

He was stricken with pneumonia last January, but apparently had recovered.

His Quantum theory brought revolutionary changes in physics and chemistry and provided one of the basic propoundings underlying the splitting of the atom.

ADMIRAL PERRY
BE RE-FITTED

Harrisburg, Oct. 4 (P)—Old salts on the Atlantic seaboard are ready to tackle the job of rigging the Niagara, flagship of Admiral Oliver H. Perry in the battle of Lake Erie.

Dr. Donald A. Cadzow, executive director of the Pennsylvania historical museum, said today offers to do the job have come from "15 or 20 old salts on the Atlantic seaboard" who say they will rig the ship at a reasonable cost.

He credited the renewed interest in the restoration of the famed flagship, now in a place of honor at Erie awaiting the final work on its superstructure, to a news story that requests for bids for the project had gone begging.

Cost Delays Work
"As a result of that story we have received so many inquiries we are going to put it up for bid again and we have hopes that the work can be done," Dr. Cadzow told newsmen.

He added the results of the first bidding were very "disheartening" after exact specifications to restore the ship to exactly what it was in the days of the War of 1812 brought no response.

"Now our hopes are revived again," Dr. Cadzow said.

At the same time, he disclosed the commission is holding off on most of its historical restoration work because of the high cost of construction.

Among the projects postponed are construction work at Governor Printz Park, Delaware county—the seat of the Swedish government more than 300 years ago—and restoration of the waterfront at Pennsylvania, Bucks county, the country home of William Penn.

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 4 (P)—Sexual maladjustment in marriage is caused either by lack of information or misinformation, says Dr. Eleanor Alice Steele, faculty member of Temple university and the University of Pennsylvania. Merchant Seamen
Held For Slaying

Georgetown, British Guiana, Oct. 4 (P)—Two American merchant seamen, including a Pennsylvanian, charged with murder in the slaying of Tug Captain Edwin T. Moriah, 28, have been remanded to Oct. 10.

The seamen, Ralph Warren Youtzy, 18, of Altoona, Pa., and Robert Elmer Boutwell, 25, of Prichard, Ala., appeared in magistrate's court yesterday. They were arrested Thursday after a fatal fight aboard a pontoon beside the city wharf in which Moriah was struck over the head with a bottle, police said, and pushed overboard.

News Briefs

Cairo, Oct. 4 (P)—Fatalities resulting from the Egyptian cholera epidemic, now in its second week, soared to 215 Friday as the health ministry reported 49 additional deaths.

Shanghai, Oct. 4 (P)—An estimated 330,000 refugees from floods in Liaoning province of western Manchuria have been reduced to eating grass, Chinese relief officials said they were advised Friday.

Moscow, Oct. 4 (P)—Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, declared Fri. that many members of the United States Congress now traveling abroad are interfering in the internal affairs of foreign countries.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 4 (P)—Motorists who failed to stop played a grisly game with 75-year-old Demetro Lysiak of the south side. As he stepped off a curb Thursday night, a westbound car hit him and knocked him into the path of an eastbound auto. Lysiak was dead when witnesses reached his side.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 4 (P)—All letters and packages passing through the Reading postoffice will be cancelled with the slogan "Reading Bicentennial Celebration—1948" starting next month, post office officials said. William P. Eisenbrown, president of the Reading Stamp club, said last night that special permission to cast a die for the cancellation machine was granted to the city by Joseph Lawler, third assistant postmaster general, in Washington.

SAYS TAXATION
BASIS IN NEED OF BROADENING

Harrisburg, Oct. 4 (P)—While awaiting the state Supreme Court's decision on the constitutionality of a new law to broaden the tax base, the Pennsylvania Real Estate association advised municipalities today to seek bases for taxation other than real estate in making up next year's budgets.

The Supreme Court took original jurisdiction Thursday in two suits challenging the constitutionality of two laws passed by the 1947 Legislature, one concerning equal community property rights of husband and wife and the other a law to permit school boards to tax coal mining or other activities not already taxed by the state.

The court ordered arguments on both laws at its next meeting in Philadelphia on November 10.

Operating Costs Up
Meanwhile Stanley A. Gillespie, president of the Real Estate association, said "there is indication that some municipalities at least are going to seek bases for taxation other than real estate."

Gillespie declared a broader tax base is needed now because in a majority of the municipalities the cost of governmental operations will be increased by higher prices and in all probability this will require tax boosts.

"Real estate cannot stand an additional tax burden," Gillespie said. "It already is overloaded to the point where an ever increasing number of persons are forced to sell their properties because they are unable to make ends meet."

Property owners, he pointed out, are paying about 75 per cent of the income derived by municipalities

Critics Pan Film's
Pittsburgh Premiere

Pittsburgh, Oct. 4 (P)—Pittsburgh today was looking back on its own Hollywood premiere—the official unveiling of the Cecil B. DeMille film, "Unconquered," a picture based on colonial life in Western Pennsylvania.

There had been almost a week of hullabaloo—parades of Seneca Indians and World War II veterans, luncheons, dinners and cocktail parties. Movie personalities had appeared before crowds ranging into the thousands.

Last night, amid bright lights and scores of uniformed attendants, the picture was shown to an "invitation only" audience, including Pennsylvania Governor James H. Duff and Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence, who joined other celebrities in welcoming Producer DeMille, to the city.

This morning the Post-Gazette's drama critic, Harold V. Cohen, said that "Unconquered," despite "excessive ballyhoo which has pelted the community from all sides these past few days... looks pretty much like any other DeMille picture. It's big, brassy, booming... long on beauty, short on originality."
